Hello, my name is Sergio, and I am excited to learn how to program. I attend Dalton State College, where I actively use Java and GitHub. I am currently working on a website that I spend a lot of time in. I actively use HTML, CSS, and JavaScript here. If you would like to see it, I would gladly present it to you. I am also learning Swift and IOS development. I enjoy figuring out how to solve new problems and working with others to help find efficient solutions. Working alone would not be a problem either, as I would get the chance to be independent and put my skills to the test.

Authorized to work in the US for any employer
